Department of Geography
Charaibahi College, Morigaon, Assam

Online learning became more popular as a result of the colleges being shutdown due to the Covid 19 pandemic, especially after March 2020. It became an important medium and a prerequisite for imparting instruction to the students during the Covid 19 pandemic. There was no obligation for teachers and learners to present together in a fixed location when educating online. In this situation, the Department of Geography of Charaibahi College offered a series of online classes to the Students of the Geography Department during Covid Period.
